MINNESOTA

SUMMARY

On the basis of its fiscal solvency in five separate categories, Minnesota ranks 26th among the US states and Puerto Rico for its fiscal health. On a cash basis, Minnesota has between 2.04 and 2.78 times the cash needed to cover short-term liabilities. Revenues exceed expenses by 6 percent, producing a surplus of $377 per capita. On a long-run basis, net assets are 16 percent of total assets, and total liabilities are 28 percent of total assets. Total debt is $8.84 billion. Unfunded pension liabilities are $87.45 billion on a guaranteed-to-be-paid basis, and other postemployment benefits (OPEB) are $651 million. These three liabilities are equal to 36 percent of total state personal income.

KEY TERMS

- Cash solvency measures whether a state has enough cash to cover its short-term bills, which include accounts payable, vouchers, warrants, and short-term debt. (Minnesota ranks 22nd.)
- Budget solvency measures whether a state can cover its fiscal year spending using current revenues. Did it run a shortfall during the year? (Minnesota ranks 15th.)
- Long-run solvency measures whether a state has a hedge against large long-term liabilities. Are enough assets available to cushion the state from potential shocks or long-term fiscal risks? (Minnesota ranks 23rd.)
- Service-level solvency measures how high taxes, revenues, and spending are when compared to state personal income. Do states have enough “fiscal slack”? If spending commitments demand more revenues, are states in a good position to increase taxes without harming the economy? Is spending high or low relative to the tax base? (Minnesota ranks 38th.)
- Trust fund solvency measures how much debt a state has. How large are unfunded pension liabilities, OPEB liabilities, and state debt compared to the state personal income? (Minnesota ranks 34th.)
